HISTORY OF BANGELAN

Imagine a mystical and deeply spiritual place where time seems to stand still, where history and nature intertwine to create something truly special. Bangelan Coffee Plantation, located in the heart of Malang, East Java, is such a place. Originally established by the Dutch, Bangelan sits at the base of the sacred Mount Kunung Gawi, surrounded by the majestic, active volcanoes Semeru, Bromo, and Arjuno. The plantation thrives in a unique environment where the cool climate, mineral-rich volcanic soil, and crystal-clear spring water come together to nurture the coffee plants.

Our Coffee Journey

At Bangelan, the story of our coffee begins long before the beans reach your cup. It starts in our nurturing nursery, where new coffee trees are carefully grown. These young trees are descendants of the original mother trees, planted by the Dutch many years ago, carrying forward a legacy of excellence on agricultural know how.

In the nursery, we use revolutionary bio-organic stimulants to ensure our young trees grow strong and healthy in a biologically responsible but above all sustainable way. After six months of tender care, the saplings are ready to be planted in the fields. We strategically place them under the protective canopy of larger shade trees, which play a crucial role in our ecosystem.

These shade trees not only provide shelter but also contribute to our sustainable farming practices. Their leaves feed our goats, whose manure, combined with cow and chicken manure, is fermented together with bio-organic microbes. This process creates an above average and rich, natural compost, vital for our coffee plants.

Through this circular, bio-organic cultivation method, we produce a coffee that is not only 100% organic but also deeply respectful of the environment. The result is a uniquely rich-tasting high quality coffee, born from a harmonious relationship with nature. This is the essence of Bangelan—a story of sustainability, tradition, and extraordinary flavor.

THE SECRET OF BANGELAN COFFEE

The secret behind the extraordinary flavor of Bangelan Coffee lies in the mystical embrace of Mount Kunung Gawi. This sacred mountain, known for its pure, crystal-clear spring water, is a pilgrimage site for millions of spiritual seekers each year. They believe that drinking this water brings good luck and health benefits. It is this revered water that nourishes our coffee plantation, imbuing the beans with a unique and distinctive taste.

Our process is steeped in tradition and care. After harvesting, the coffee beans are naturally sun-dried in their shells to lock in their full flavor. Once perfectly dried, the shells are gently removed, and each bean is meticulously hand-sorted by size and color to ensure only the best are chosen.

Whether our clients prefer green beans or expertly roasted coffee, we cater to every need, even offering personalized labeling for long-term contracts. At Bangelan, every step of our journey, from the sacred waters of Mount Kunung Gawi to the final cup, tells a story of dedication, heritage, and exceptional quality.
